EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

Keith J. Stewart (Mineral Development in the Atlantic Provinces) obtained his B.Sc. with honours in geology and his M. Sc. from the University of New Brunswick. During his years at university, his summers were engaged in geological and mineral exploration at various locations in Canada. Following a year of post-graduate studies at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, he joined the staff of the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation Limited, becoming Chief Geologist in 1956. In 1958, Mr. Stewart joined the staff of the Mineral Resources Division of the Dept. of Energy, Mines and Resources. His present work includes analyses of Canada's mineral economy and the preparation of reports for government use and general distribution.
